Dwelling, Renting and Housing Rights

In general, a support animal (ESA) is defined as any animal that brings comfort and support to an individual with a psychological, mental or emotional issue. These maladies can range from social phobias, to depression, to anxiety, and to PTSD. Persons with these issues, can be afforded benefits and access to dwellings, Rentals and Housing. Local laws may differ, but the owner, landlord or lease holder may permit special provisions to those who have registered and benefit from the use of a support animal. These requests are not guaranteed by law but are requests made by individuals to aid them in recovery or provide therapeutic benefit for a physical or mental issue.

Restaurants, Events and Public Areas

Independent access is an integral part of these rights. Persons with mental or physical issues should be afforded to as much independence in life as possible. Their use of public places like restaurants, shopping and other public areas are no exception. Those who manage public spaces can, upon request, make specific accommodations to patrons with issues while considering the impact on their operation and their safety obligations. People With Service Animals Must Be Allowed Access To All Public Accommodations. This right takes precedence over all state and local laws which might otherwise prohibit animals in those places such as Stores, Malls, Restaurants, Hotels/Resorts, Airlines, Cruises, Taxi cabs, Buses just to name a few.

Airline Travel, Public Transportation

Carriers, terminal operators and transportation employees may accept requests by accommodating persons with mental issues or physical limitations that may cause undue hardship. This means that carriers, terminal operators and transportation employees should consider: (1) Providing accommodations / access /entry that give a person with a support or therapy animal access to transportation services. (2) Provide these accommodations where doing so is reasonable, practical or helpful. The request is made in good faith to alliviate undue hardship of registrant. It is widely recognized and accepted that people who rely on animals to provide assistance may find benefit or comfort. The registrant agrees to terms set by grantor, to maintain dog within their control at all times and to be responsible for safety and health concerns related to their support or therapy animal.
